

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE.

ON the 11th July, 1800, the House of Commons presented to the King an address, in which, after mentioning that seventy years had elapsed since the last general Parliamentary inquiry into the subject of the custody and preservation of the Public Records, they besought His Majesty to give directions for the better care and arrangement of those documents, and for the printing of some of them. Agreeably with the desire above expressed, the King appointed a Commission to inquire, and to take needful action, and to report their proceedings yearly by Lady Day.

In 1808 the Commissioners gave orders for the printing of certain ancient records known as the "Hundred Rolls;" and these were subsequently published in two large volumes, of which the first was printed in 1812 and the second in 1818.

As appears from the Introduction to these publications, the "Hundred Rolls" contain certain inquisitions taken in pursuance of a Special Commission issued by Edward I. in the second year of his reign. For a few counties no "Hundred Rolls" had been discovered. To supply the gap the Commissioners published for all the counties "Extracts" made by authority from the original inquisitions, and coeval with the inquisitions themselves—which extracts were still extant. In the case of Buckinghamshire were added, as covering similar ground, the answers to the Articles of Inquiry in the "Iter" or "Eyre" of 39, Henry III. It should be mentioned that the Justice in Eyre used to inquire respecting the profitable tenures of the King, the assets, that is, of the Royal estates, as well as of frauds and oppressions committed by the Sheriffs and other Crown Officers. They, therefore, issued to the Hundredors sundry "Capitula itineris"—a sort of catechism on the subject of local administration and royal dues. (Bracton, l. 2, fo. 116-117.)

During the reign of Henry III. great abuses had grown up, alike in derogation of the rights of the Sovereign through the usurpations and encroachments of great feudal or ecclesiastical magnates, and to the prejudice of the subject from similar causes, or from the exactions of escheaters, bailiffs, and others.

When Edward I. succeeded to the Throne, the Iter, which was held septennially, was not due for several years; hence the Special Commission to which we owe the Hundred Rolls.

The articles of inquiry of general applicability are stated to have been thirty-five in number. Besides these were twelve additional articles adapted to special local circumstances. When the Commissioners had reported, "Extracts" were made from the Rolls of the Inquisitions for the guidance of the Exchequer Court.

The evidence was taken on the oaths of a jury for each Hundred and Town. It set out the estates, perquisites, emoluments, and jurisdictions of the Crown. It shewed the losses which had been sustained owing to subinfeudations and alienations in frankalmoign, to subtraction of dues, and to the malpractices of great lords and defaulting officers.

On this evidence was founded Chapter I. of the Statute of Gloucester; and when the "Iter" took place, the famous writs of quo warranto began to fly about, and with notable effect. The Judges were furnished with the Hundred Rolls, and the jurors who acted in the business of the Circuit were in many cases the same as those who had made the returns to the Special Inquisition. Evil doers were, therefore, put in a tight place; and it was not every feudal oppressor and lordling who could make the proud and defiant answer which was hurled by Earl de Warene at his accusers or judges as his "Return to the Writ." Amongst other grandees, the old Chronicle tells us, this Earl was summoned before the King's Justices, and was made to declare what warrant he had for his tenure. For reply he fetched out an old and rusty sword, and, quoth he, "There, my Lords, there you see my warrant. My forefathers came over with William the Bastard, and got their estates with the sword, and with the sword I will hold the same against all comers. The King didn't conquer this country by himself, but our ancestors were helpers and partakers with him."

Besides the Statute of Gloucester, many of the provisions of the Statute of Westminster were levelled at offences disclosed by the Hundred Rolls, and after 6 Edward I., new Articles of Inquiry were addressed by the Circuit Judges to the Hundredors. These Articles were known as the "Nova Capitula."

Other Rolls, bearing the same name, date from a later period of the reign of Edward I. (7 and 8 Edw. I.) by virtue of a Special Commission issued 12 Mar., Anno Septimo. Of these, only the Rolls for Beds., Bucks., Cambs, Hunts., and Oxon, are extant. They were on the Collection of Escuage, and Hidage or Tallage.

In the pages which follow will be found a transcript of the original Hundred Rolls of the second year of Edward I., so far as the same relate to the district called Lothingland, in the County of Suffolk, and of the "Extracts" made therefrom at the same period, together with a translation, in either case due to the pen of the late Lord John Hervey. It was probably his intention to reproduce and translate the Rolls and Extracts for the whole of the County, but the work was left incomplete, and it would seem that the part of it which is now given to the public had not received his final corrections as regards either the Latin text or the English version of it.

Item predictus Edwardus tenet quoddam mariscum in Gorleston qui vocatur ffulholm successione hereditaria per annum servicium x solidorum domino Regi solvendorum.

Also they say that the aforesaid King Henry and his ancestors had in Lowestoft 5 acres of turbary, which the aforesaid Warner entered in the 'Extent,' and which the Abbot of Langley and Thomas Churkild hold of the lord King by annual service of 5 shillings.

Also they say that the aforesaid King Henry and his ancestors had in the same township a certain herbage of about two acres, which William Reynald now holds by demise from Richard of Foxton, now bailiff of Lothingland, by annual service of 12d.

Also they say that William Reynald holds a certain piece of marsh of about 2 acres in the same township by annual service of 1d. by a demise, which Roger Fitz Osbert, then bailiff of Lothingland, made to Henry Reynald, father of the said William.

Also they say that the aforesaid King Henry and his ancestors had in the said township of Lowestoft 1 piece of the heath, which is called Hulteshill, which Roger de Colville holds in severalty, and he does for it no service.

Also they say that the aforesaid King Henry and his ancestors had in his demesne in the said township a certain wood of about 9 acres, which John Bonde now holds by the annual service of 10 shillings by demise from Richard, now bailiff of Lothingland.

Also they say that in the aforesaid township of Lowestoft there is a certain meadow of about 2 acres, which is called the King's meadow, and is worth by the year half-a-mark, and that the meadow remains to the use of the bailiff of Lothingland.

Also the aforesaid King Henry and his ancestors in the aforesaid township of Gorleston used to have in their demesne a certain marsh, which is called Mickle-Marsh, which Walter Assheman now holds for 8 marks and a half a year by demise from the bailiff of Lothingland.

Also they say that John Bacun and Sabina his mother hold a certain marsh in Gorleston, which used to be King's demesne land, at 4 marks a year by demise from the bailiffs of Lothingland before John de Balliol and Dervorgille his wife had received the manor of Lothingland from the lord (King), and the said marsh is called Ubbe-Marsh.

Also they say that Edward Charles holds a certain marsh in the same township, which used to be King's demesne land, and is called Stonhere, at 20 shillings a year by demise, which the bailiff of Lothingland made to Charles of Yarmouth, grandfather of the said Edward, before the King had demised to John de Balliol and Dervorgille his wife the manor of Lothingland.

Also they say that the aforesaid Edward holds a certain marsh in the same township, part of the lord King's demesne, which is called Buterdish, at 4d. a year by demise, which the bailiff of Lothingland made to William Charles, and before the manor came into the hands of the aforesaid John and Dervorgille.

Also the aforesaid Edward holds a certain marsh in Gorleston, which is called Fulholm, by hereditary succession, by an annual service of 10 shillings, to be paid to the lord King.

Item predictus Edwardus tenet quoddam mariscum in eadem de dominico domini Regis qui vocatur Cobbeholt et quem Willelmus Charles sibi appropriavit sine warranto et potest agitari de x bidentibus.

Item dicunt quod tenentes de Norvilla tenent quoddam mariscum qui vocatur Nortonmers faciendo inde per annum domino Regi x solidos sicut antecessores eorum facere solent ab antiquo.

Item dicunt quod predictus Rex Henricus et antecessores ejus solent habere in dominico suo in Gorleston quoddam pratum circa vj acrarum quod pratum ballivus de Luthingland retinet ad usus proprios quandoque et ad locacionem quandoque dimittitur per annum pro x solidis.

Item dicunt quod in villa de Gorleston Rex Johannes avus domini Regis nunc habuit in dominico suo quoddam tenementum quod vocatur Aldefreche unde Prior de Smythefeld tenet modo xij acras set nesciunt quo warranto. Walterus Assheman tenet modo xij acras ex dimissione Ade de Neuton et Thome fratris ejus.

Item dicunt quod in predicta villa de Gorleston de predicto Rege Henrico et antecessoribus ejus solent teneri in villenagio xij<sup>xx</sup> xvij acre terre unde Radulphus Rodger tenuit j mesuagium xij acrarum cum quodam tofto Ricardus filius Anandi j mesuagium xij acrarum cum tofto Thomas Wlmer j mesuagium xij acrarum cum tofto Willelmus filius Hanilde de Enges et participes ejus j mesuagium xij acrarum cum tofto Radulphus Wlmer et participes ejus j mesuagium iij acrarum terre et dimidie cum tofto Rogerus le Daubere j mesuagium xij acrarum cum tofto Colinus Hert j mesuagium xij acrarum cum tofto Adam Bolle j mesuagium xij acrarum cum tofto David Hervi j mesuagium xij acrarum cum tofto Johannes Bonde senior xij acrarum cum tofto Radulphus Ere j mesuagium xij acrarum Wymerus de Gorleston j mesuagium xxiij acrarum Martinus Pintel j mesuagium xij acrarum unde iij acre in mari Ricardus Hulin j mesuagium xij acrarum unde iij acre in mari Robertus Haldeyn j mesuagium xij acrarum Willelmus Lingine j mesuagium xij acrarum cum tofto Seman de Reston et Sibilla uxor ejus Willelmus Rowe et Juliana uxor ejus j mesuagium xij acrarum cum tofto Thomas Wlmer j mesuagium viij acrarum terre et dimidie cum tofto Geraldus Bushanke j mesuagium vj acrarum terre cum tofto Costinus de Norwico et Estilda uxor ejus tenuerunt xxxv acras in villenagio faciendo inde per annum consuetudines sicut alius villanus de Gorleston set post mortem ipsius Estrilde predictus Costinus tenuit predictum tenementum ex dimissione Johannis de Balliolo et ballivorum ejus de Luthingland per liberum servicium xv solidorum per annum.

Also the aforesaid Edward holds a certain marsh in the said township, part of the lord King's demesne, which is called Cobbeholm, and which William Charles appropriated to himself without warrant, and the marsh can be used for the agistment of 10 sheep.

Also they say that the tenants of Northtown hold a certain marsh, which is called Norton-Marsh, by rendering for the same to the lord King 10 shillings a year, like as their ancestors used to do of old time.

Also they say that the aforesaid King Henry and his ancestors used to have in their demesne in Gorleston a certain meadow of about 6 acres, the which meadow the bailiff of Lothingland retains sometimes for his own uses, and when let at other times it is demised for 10 shillings a year.

Also they say that in the township of Gorleston King John, grandfather of our lord the King that now is, had in his demesne a certain tenement, which is called Aldefreche, whereof the Prior of Smithfield now holds 12 acres, but they know not by what warrant. Walter Assheman now holds 12 acres by demise from Adam of Newton and Thomas his brother.

Also they say that in the aforesaid township of Gorleston 12 score and 18 acres of land used to be held in villenage of the aforesaid King Henry and his ancestors, whereof Ralph Roger held 1 messuage of 12 acres, with a certain toft; Richard son of Anand 1 messuage of 12 acres, with a toft; Thomas Woolmer 1 messuage of 12 acres, with a toft; William son of Hanilda of Enges and his co-heirs 1 messuage of 12 acres, with a toft; Ralph Woolmer and his co-heirs 1 messuage of 4 acres and a half of land, with a toft; Rogerle Daubere 1 messuage of 12 acres, with a toft; Colin Hert 1 messuage of 12 acres, with a toft; Adam Bolle 1 messuage of 12 acres, with a toft; David Hervi 1 messuage of 12 acres, with a toft; John Bond the elder . . . of 12 acres, with a toft; Ralph Ere 1 messuage of 12 acres; Wymer of Gorleston 1 messuage of 24 acres; Martin Pintel 1 messuage of 12 acres, 3 acres of which are under the sea; Richard Hulin 1 messuage of 12 acres, 3 acres of which are under the sea; Robert Haldeyn 1 messuage of 12 acres; William Lingine 1 messuage of 12 acres, with a toft; Seman of Reston and Sibilla his wife, William Rowe and Juliana his wife 1 messuage of 12 acres, with a toft; Thomas Wolmer 1 messuage of 8 acres and a half of land, with a toft; Gerald Bushanke 1 messuage of 6 acres of land, with a toft; Costin of Norwich and Estilda his wife held 35 acres in villenage, performing for the same annually the customary services like any other villain of Gorleston, but after the death of the said Estilda the aforesaid Costin held the aforesaid tenement by a demise made by John of Balliol and his Lothingland bailiffs, by the free service of 15 shillings a year.

Item dicunt quod ecclesia de Parva Gernemutha ecclesia de Gorleston ecclesia de Belton et ecclesia de Lowistoft in manerio de Luthingland quondam fuerunt de patronatu antecessorum domini Regis set per donum quod Rex Henricus proavus domini Regis nunc quondam fecit Priori et Canonicis Sancti Bartolomei de Smethefeld remanserunt predictae ecclesie ad usus illorum.

Item dicunt quod villa de Burgo in Luthingland est serjantia domini Regis et quod pater domini Regis nunc habuit illam villam per aliquantum temporis et postea illam dedit per cartam suam Priori et Monachis de Bromholm salva tamen sibi et heredibus suis advocacione ecclesie illius ville quam advocacionem ipse Rex postea contulit Priori et Canonicis de Herlingflet sibi et successoribus suis possidendam.

Also they say that Robert Holy formerly held an acre and a half of land of the lord King in chief in the town of Gorleston, at an annual rent of 4d., whereof Thomas de Marisco holds a messuage, rendering yearly to the lord 1½d.; Abraham of Kirkley 1 cottage tenement and John Note 1 messuage, rendering for the same yearly to the lord King 2d.; Robert of Enges holds 1 garden, Richard of Carlton a rood, John Bonde a rood, and they do no yearly service for them.

Also they say that Christian de Lisle holds an acre and a half of land in Gorleston of the lord King, at an annual service rent of 8d.

Also John of Belton holds a piece of land, about a rood of the common of Gorleston, of the lord King, at an annual service rent of 1d.

Also they say that Henry Adams holds of the lord King in Lowestoft about an acre of marsh, and Adam the Deacon in like manner about an acre of marsh, at an annual service rent of 4d.; Symon Bacon 5 acres of land, at an annual service rent of 9d.; William Piledhil 5 acres of land, by the annual service of 6d.; Robert the Smith 4 acres of land, by the annual service of 4d.; Nicholas son of Sewall 6 acres of land, by the annual service of 10d.; Thomas of Oulton 3 acres, by the annual service of 6d., with 1 fowl; Margaret of Stonegate 3 acres of land, by the annual service of 4d.; Robert Eywald 3 acres of land, by the annual service of 4d.; Lena Wyard 3 acres of land, by the annual service of 8d.; Henry the Miller and William Gosenol 2 roods of land, by the annual service of 6d.; Lena of the Lone House 1 cottage tenement for 1d.; Thomas nephew of the Dean 2 cottage tenements for 1d.; Alice Rustert a cottage for a half-penny; John Sefrey a rood of land for a half-penny; Robert le Shirreve an acre of land for 4d.; Alan de Wymendhale a rood of meadow for a half-penny.

De sectis antiquis consuetudinibus &c.

Dicunt quod iiij<sup>d</sup> annui redditus subtrahuntur per Henricum Thussi de socagio quod tenuit de domino Rege jam viij annis elapsis.

Item dicunt quod per Walterum de Monasterio et Thomam de Horseye de socagio gersumario quod fuit Walteri Fabri in Corton subtrahitur quoddam servicium scilicet de firma domini Regis colligenda.

Item dicunt quod Henricus de Hapeland jam xv annis elapsis subtraxit quandam consuetudinem scilicet portandi virgam et firmam domini Regis colligendi et summoniciones et attachiamenta faciendi que consuetudo spectat ad tenementum quod tenet in Luthingland.

Dicunt quod tempore quo dimidium hundredum de Luthinland fuit in manibus antecessorum domini Regis nunc tenebantur placita de vetito namio in Curia de Luthingland que nunc ibidem non tenentur.

Item dicunt quod due ville in manerio de Luthingland scilicet Gorleston et Lowistoft que dominicum domini Regis apellantur habent libertatem warrenne et sic solent habere ab antiquo.

Concerning ancient suits, customs, &c.

They say that threepence of annual rent are subtracted by Henry Thussi from the socage fee which he held of the lord King for now eight years past.

Also they say that fourpence of rent are subtracted for now 4 years past by John son of William of Enges from a certain tenement in Reston, which the said John holds by gift of his father.

Also they say that, by Walter of the Minster and Thomas de Horsey, from a gersumary socage fee which belonged to Walter the Smith in Corton is subtracted a certain service, to wit that of collecting the lord King's farm.

Also they say that Henry of Hobland for now 15 years past has subtracted a certain custom, to wit of carrying the rod and collecting the lord King's farm, and making summonses and attachments, the which custom has regard to the tenement which he holds in Lothingland.

In like manner enquiry is made about the farms of the hundred, &c. Also how many hundreds, &c.

They say, like as was said before, that Devorgille de Balliol holds the half hundred of Lothingland for 70 pounds by demise of King Henry, father of the now lord King, in exchange for her share, which comes to her by inheritance, of the County of Chester; and the aforesaid half hundred of Lothingland is valued at four score pounds, and would be worth ten pounds more if it had liberty of the water and of other things which it had in the time of King John and in the time of King Henry, when the manor of Lothingland was in the hands of the said Kings, ancestors of the now lord King, and the which water the burgesses of Great Yarmouth have held in occupation by the act of one Roger Fitz Osbert, who held that manor to farm in the time of the aforesaid King Henry.

What others also from the King claim to have return, &c.

They say that in the time when the half hundred of Lothingland was in the hands of the ancestors of the now lord King there were held pleas "De vetito namio" in the Court of Lothingland, which now are not holden therein.

Also they say that two towns in the manor of Lothingland, namely, Gorleston and Lowestoft, which are called the Demesne of the lord King, have free warren, and so used to have from of old time.

Item dicunt quod in manerio de Luthingland seneschallus seu ballivus ejusdem est Coronator et officio Coronatoris usus est et sic solet esse in illo manerio ab antiquo verumtamen quod tempore Regis Henrici patris domini Regis nunc duo probi homines de Luthingland scilicet Henricus de Caldekotis et Rogerus de Goneton fuerunt Coronatores in eodem manerio per institutionem Willelmi de Eborac tunc Justiciario domini Regis et qui duo officio Coronatoris usi sunt quamdiu vixerunt.

Item dicunt quod manerium de Luthinland habet wreccum maris et libertatem visus franciplegii et libertatem furcarum ac assisam panis et cerevisie et sic solet habere a tempore a quo non extat memoria.

Item dicunt quod manerium de Luthingland habet prisonam ubi malefactores imprisonantur in cippis et hoc tam apud Gorleston quam apud Lowystoft.

Item dicunt quod Prior de Bromholm habet wreccum in villa de Burgo in manerio de Luthingland ac libertatem visus franciplegii in eadem villa unacum libertate warenne set quo waranto nesciunt.

Item dicunt quod Henricus de Caldecotes miles habet in villa de Belton mercatum per diem Lune in qualibet septimana. Item habet libertatem warenne in tenementis suis in Freton et Belton et hoc per cartam Regis Henrici patris domini Regis nunc.

Item dicunt quod Rogerus le Fiz Aubern habet mercatum per diem Mercurii in qualibet septimana ac libertatem warenne in tenementis suis in Flixton et Sumerleton et hoc per cartas predicti Regis Henrici patris domini Regis nunc.

Item dicunt quod Robertus de Ludham habet libertatem warenne in tenementis suis in villa de Herlingflet et hoc per cartam predicti Regis Henrici patris domini Regis nunc.

De hiis qui habent libertates per Reges Anglie &c.

Dicunt quod burgenses Magne Gernemuthe libertate sua quam habent ab antecessoribus domini Regis nunc aliter usi sunt quam facere debent in hoc quod bona et catalla vicinorum suorum ad portum suum venientia capiunt et detinent pro debitis suis sine iudicio alicujus curie cum ipsi vicini sui non sunt sint debitores principales nec plegii eorum.

De libertatibus concessis que impediunt &c.

Dicunt quod nichil sciunt.

Also they say that in the manor of Lothingland the steward or bailiff thereof is Coroner and enjoys the office of Coroner, and so it used to be in that manor from of old time; but nevertheless that in the time of King Henry, father of the now lord King, two worthy men of Lothingland, namely, Henry of Caldecott and Roger of Gunton, were Coroners in the said manor through the institution of William of York, then Justice of the lord King, and these two exercised the office of Coroner so long as they lived.

Also they say that the manor of Lothingland hath wreck of the sea, and liberty of the view of frankpledge, and liberty of the gallows, and assise of bread and ale, and so used to have from a time whereof no memory exists.

Also they say that the manor of Lothingland hath a market, and this from of old time.

Also they say that the manor of Lothingland hath a prison, where malefactors are imprisoned in the stocks, and this as well at Gorleston as at Lowestoft.

Also they say that the Prior of Bromholm hath wreck in the town of Burgh in the manor of Lothingland, and liberty of the view of frankpledge in the said town, together with free warren, but by what warrant they know not.

Also they say that Henry of Caldecott, Knight, hath in the town of Belton a market during Monday in each week. Also he hath free warren in his holdings in Fritton and Belton, and this by charter of King Henry, father of the now lord King.

Also they say that Roger Fitz Osbert hath a market during Wednesday in each week, and free warren in his holdings in Flixton and Somerleyton, and this by charters of the aforesaid King Henry, father of the now lord King.

Also they say that Robert of Loudham hath free warren in his holdings in the town of Herringfleet, and this by charter of the aforesaid King Henry, father of the now lord King.

Concerning those who have liberties through the Kings of England, &c.

They say that the burgesses of Geat Yarmouth now exercise their liberty which they have from the ancestors of the now lord King otherwise than they ought to do, in this that goods and chattels of their neighbours coming to their port they take and detain for debts due to them without the judgment of any Court, when their said neighbours are not the principal debtors nor pledges for them.

Concerning liberties granted which impede, &c.

They say they have no knowledge.

Qui insuper de novo sibi appropriaverunt &c.

Dicunt quod burgenses Magne Gernemuthe tempore Regis Henrici patris domini Regis nunc appropriaverunt sibi aquam que est divisa inter comitatum Norffolciensem et comitatum Suffolciensem et cujus aque medietas ad manerium de Luthingland spectabat tempore Regis Johannis et antecessorum ejus Regum Anglie et est hec appropriacio aque predictae ad dampnum domini Regis et manerii sui de Luthingland x librarum per annum et facta est hec appropriacio tempore Regis Henrici patris domini Regis nunc quo Rogerus filius Osberti tenuit manerium de Luthingland ad firmam. Ipsi nunc ballivi Magne Gernemuthe capiunt consuetudinem navium et retium de mariscis scilicet Stonere ffulholm Butredis qui sunt de dominico domini Regis de Luthingland.

Qui eciam domini aut eorum senescalli &c.

Dicunt quod nichil sciunt.

Item de omnibus purpresturis &c

Dicunt quod tenentes Parve Gernemuthe postquam Dervorgilla de Balliol receperat manerium de Luthingland fecerunt purpresturam super mercatum domini Regis apud Gorleston illud mercatum artando undique de quantitate xxx pedum per construccionem domorum ibidem et hoc ad dampnum domini Regis et tenencium ejus.

Item dicunt quod Johannes Bonde fecit quandam purpresturam de j acra marisci in Gorleston et quandam aliam purpresturam de j acra pasture in eadem quas tenet in suum separale nullum inde per annum servitium faciens domino Regi in quibus villani domini Regis de Gorleston solent communare cum averiis et bidentibus suis et quas purpresturas ipse Johannes fecit tempore quo fuit ballivus predictae Dervorgille ibidem.

Item dicunt quod Ricardus Assheman Willelmus de la Mawe et Seyerus de Gapeton quilibet eorum fecit super communam de Gorleston que est dominicum domini Regis quandam purpresturam de latitudine iiij perticarum et de longitudine xxx pedum.

Item dicunt quod Willelmus de Weston et Avelina uxor ejus tenent quandam purpresturam in ffreton quam Henricus de ffreton fecit super viam regalem sibi appropriando dimidiam rodam terre tempore Regis Henrici patris domini Regis nunc.

Who moreover of late have appropriated to their own use, &c.

They say that the burgesses of Great Yarmouth, in the time of King Henry, father of the now lord King, have appropriated to their own use the water, which is divided between the County of Norfolk and the County of Suffolk, and of the which water the moiety had regard to the manor of Lothingland in the time of King John and his ancestors, Kings of England; and this appropriation of the water aforesaid is to the damage of the lord King and of his manor of Lothingland to the extent of 10 pounds a year, and this appropriation was made in the time of King Henry, father of the now lord King, when Roger Fitz Osbert held the manor to farm. Now the said bailiffs of Great Yarmouth take custom of ships and nets from the marshes, viz., Stonere, Fulholm, Buterdish, which are upon the demesne of the lord King in Lothingland.

What lords also or their stewards, &c.

They say they have no knowledge.

Also concerning all encroachments, &c.

They say that the tenants of Little Yarmouth after Devorgille de Balliol had received the manor of Lothingland made an encroachment upon the market of the lord King at Gorleston by narrowing the market area on all sides to the extent of 30 feet, by the construction of houses upon it, and this to the damage of the lord King and of his tenants.

Also they say that John Bonde made a certain encroachment of 1 acre of marsh in Gorleston and a certain other encroachment of 1 acre of pasture in the same town, which he holds to his own separate use, doing no service for the same yearly to the lord King, in the which acres the villan tenants of the lord King at Gorleston use to common with their beasts and their sheep, and which encroachments the said John made in the time when he was bailiff of the aforesaid Devorgille therein.

Also they say that Richard Assheman, William de la Mawe, and Seyer of Gapton, each of them made upon the Common of Gorleston, which is demesne of the lord King, a certain encroachment of 4 perches in breadth and of 30 feet in length.

Also they say that William of Weston and Aveline his wife hold a certain encroachment in Fritton, which Henry of Fritton made upon the King's highway by appropriating to his own use half-a-rood of land in the time of King Henry, father of the now lord King.

Item dicunt quod Thomas Payn tenet quandam purpresturam in ffreton circa dimidiam rodam terre quam Robertus Gahidrut quondam fecit super viam regalem tempore predicti Regis Henrici.

Item dicunt quod Thomas filius Isolde tenet quandam purpresturam in Parva Gernemutha quam Warinus Blench fecit tempore Johannis de Balliol ubi trebuchet domini Regis in Luthingland solet esse.

De feodo militari cujuscunque &c.

Dicunt quod Radulfus Gernon senior qui quondam tenuit Gapeton in Luthingland per servicium militare contulit Priori et Canonicis de Lehe in perpetuam elemosinam.

Item Prior de Norwico tenet in proprios usus ecclesiam de Hopeton cujus advocacio spectabat quondam ad antecessores domini Regis nunc set quis Rex contulit eis illam ecclesiam nesciunt.

Item de ecclesia de Gorleston de ecclesia de Lowystoft de ecclesia Parve Gernemuthe et de ecclesia de Burgo in Luthingland que ecclesie quondam fuerunt de patronatu antecessorum domini Regis nunc dictum est superius ex alia parte rotuli hujus.

Dicunt quod Johannes Bonde tunc ballivus de Luthinland jam vj annis elapsis cepit de Thoma le Taylur de Alton rettato de homicidio cujusdam ignoti xv solidos pro auxilio prestando eidem.

Item dicunt quod Henricus Assheman clericus predicti ballivi cepit de predicto Thoma pro eodem iiij solidos et quandam mulam precii iiij solidorum.

Item dicunt quod Ricardus de Foxton nunc ballivus de Luthingland negligenter se jessit de hoc quod quando Henricus Carman rettatus de furto coram eo ad visum franciplegii de Luthingland non fecit attachiamentum.

Item dicunt quod ipse ballivus nunc David Kel servientem predicti Henrici pro eodem cepit et de eo cepit iiij solidos ut posset replegiari.

Item dicunt quod Rogerus de Colvile tunc Vice-Comes Suffolcie de Henrico de Hopelund et Willelmo de Enges appellatis in comitatu Suffolciensi de morte Roberti de la Grenehore cepit xl solidos ut possent replegiari.

Also they say that Thomas Payn holds a certain encroachment in Fritton, about half-a-rood of land, which Robert Gahidrut formerly made upon the King's highway in the time of the aforesaid King Henry.

Also they say that Henry of Hobland made a certain encroachment in Hobland upon the King's highway of 30 perches in length and 8 feet in breadth in the time of the aforesaid King Henry.

Also they say that Thomas son of Isolde holds a certain encroachment in Little Yarmouth, which Warin Blench made in the time of John de Balliol, where the 'trebuchet' of the lord King in Lothingland used to be.

Concerning every military fee, &c.

They say that Ralph Gernon the elder, who formerly held Gapton in Lothingland by military service, conferred it upon the Prior and Canons of Leigh in perpetual alms.

Also the Prior of Norwich holds to his own uses the church of Hopton, the advowson of which formerly belonged to the ancestors of the now lord King, but what King conferred upon him that church they know not.

Also concerning the church of Gorleston, the church of Lowestoft, the church of Little Yarmouth, and the church of Burgh in Lothingland, which churches were formerly in the patronage of the ancestors of the now lord King, the verdict is given above in another part of this roll.

Concerning Sheriffs who take rewards, &c. Also in like manner concerning clerks, &c.

They say that John Bonde, then bailiff of Lothingland, now six years past, took of Thomas the Tailor of Oulton, arrested for the homicide of someone unknown, 15 shillings for giving him aid.

Also they say that Henry Assheman, clerk to the aforesaid bailiff, took of the aforesaid Thomas for the same cause 4 shillings and a certain mule of the value of 4 shillings.

Also they say that Richard of Foxton, now bailiff of Lothingland, bore himself negligently in that when Henry Carman arrested for theft (was) before him at the view of frankpledge in Lothingland, he did not make attachment.

Also they say that the said now bailiff took David Kel, servant of the aforesaid Henry instead of him, and from him took 3 shillings that he might be restored to frankpledge.

Also they say that Roger de Colville, then sheriff of Suffolk, took from Henry of Hobland and William of Enges, charged in the county of Suffolk with the death of Robert de la Greneshore, 40 shillings that they might be restored to frankpledge.

Item dicunt quod Willelmus Egelyn serviens Roberti de Norton tunc Vice-Comitis Suffolcie cepit ij solidos de Stephano de Insula per preceptum domini Regis capiendo ut posset replegiari.

Item dicunt quod Alsneta de Oltun indictata fuit de furto et Ricardus de Foxtun ballivus de Luthingland cepit de ea finem iiij solidorum et dimisit eam sine plegio.

Item dicunt quod Henricus filius Clerici de Oltun dedit predicto Ricardo ballivo de Luthingland iiij solidos per sic quod posset replegiari cum ipse Henricus indictatus fuit de receptamento latrocinii.

Item dicunt quod Johannes filius Symonis occidit quendam hominem in Oltun et adivit ecclesiam et Johannes Bonde tunc Coronator de Lothingland . . . . quousque villata de Oltun ei satisfecit de dimidia marca.

Item dicunt quod Ricardus nunc ballivus de Luthingland recepit dimidiam marcam argenti de Galfrido Nokedam pro receptamento garbarum ordeï circa ij<sup>bz</sup> captarum noctanter et furtive.

Dicunt quod nichil sciunt.

De Vice-Comitibus qui tradiderint Ballivis extorsoribus &c.

Dicunt quod nichil sciunt.

Cum Vice-Comites non debeant facere &c.

Dicunt quod nichil.

Cum fines pro redeseysina aut purpresturis &c.

Dicunt quod nichil.

Also they say that William Egelyn, servant of Robert de Norton, then sheriff of Suffolk, took 2 shillings of Stephen de Lisle, to be taken by precept of the lord King, that he might be restored to frankpledge.

Also they say that Alsneta of Oulton was indicted for theft, and Richard de Foxton, bailiff of Lothingland, took from her a fine of 4 shillings and dismissed her without bail.

Also they say that Henry son of the clerk of Oulton gave to the aforesaid Richard, bailiff of Lothingland, 4 shillings for so that he might be restored to frankpledge when the said Henry was indicted for the receipt of stolen goods.

Also they say that John son of Symon killed a certain man in Oulton and went into the church, and John Bonde, then Coroner of Lothingland . . . until the township of Oulton had satisfied him by payment of half a mark.

Also they say that Richard, now bailiff of Lothingland, received half-a-mark of silver from Galfrey Nockedam on account of his receipt of sheafs of barley, about 2 bushels, taken at night and with thievish intent.

Also Richard received from John Cruke 4 shillings for that the said John lay with Sybil Galle by violence.

Concerning Sheriffs and other Bailiffs who have amerced, &c.

They say they have no knowledge.

Concerning bailiffs taking reward for withdrawing 'recognitors'

They say that the aforesaid John and Henry took money for withdrawing 'recognitors' from the inquisitions, as appears in the inquisitions.

Also they say that by Master William de la Cornere, sent as commissioner by the King to the parts of Yarmouth, to enquire about the chattels of the men of Flaunders, it was provided that the Flemish fishermen, without whom the fair at Yarmouth would perish, might come to Yarmouth in the fishing season to catch and sell fresh herring, so that the hosts of these men of Flaunders should take from each last of fresh herring to the lord King's use beyond the custom of the fair 2s. From whom the said Master William received as the particulars show £7 2s. 4d.
